Wool Market Movements

•	The stunning, long run of high prices for Merino wool continued in the Australian wool market this week as we head towards the Christmas recess. And Crossbred prices recorded very good increases as well. As a result, the EMI lifted by 23 cents to finish on the cusp of 1700 c/kg, at 1699 $$ $\ensuremath{\text{c/kg}}.$ This is another record level for the EMI. The AUD slid against the USD and the EMI rose by 11 UScents to 1283 $$ USc/kg. There were 49,030 bales on offer and the pass-in rate fell to 3.1%. Next week is the last week before the Recess and there are 52,292 bales on offer.

 The three day sale in Melbourne this week saw competition among buyers build steadily from a slow start on Tuesday, gathering pace on Wednesday and reaching a peak on Thursday. Initially favouring low mid-break, high strength Merino wools earlier in the week, buyers broadened their interest as the week progressed and bid competively on almost all Merino fleece and skirtings lots on Thursday. The exception was 18 micron wool, which fell. It was a very good week for Crossbred wools, with prices rising by 15 to 30 cents on both Wednesday and Thursday as buyers ramped up interest. The Oddment market followed the pattern in the fleece market, with prices rising strongly on Wednesday and Thursday.

- Sydney hosted a two-day sale which started steadily if unspectacularly for Merino fleece on Wednesday, with buyers favouring the better spec lots and prices remaining at around last week's levels. The scene changed on Thursday as buyers upped the competition, particularly for Merino wool between 19 and 22 micron. Prices for these types lifted by 15-20 cents. The Crossbred offering saw excellent competition from the start of the sale and prices rose by 20-30 cents on each day. Locks, Crutchings and Stains lifted by 20-40 cents on both Wednesday and Thursday.
- The two-day sale in Fremantle started strongly on Wednesday, Buyers bid competitively for all types and prices lifted by 10-20 cents. As a result, nearly 98% of the offering cleared. The market was even stronger on Thursday, with prices rising by 20-35 cents across the board and less than 2% of lots were passed-in. Intense buying on Wednesda saw prices for Oddments jump by up to 50 cents. The marke then consolidated on Thursday at these higher levels.
